

Storm clouds roll in over Ely Cathedral

THIS stunning photograph captures the moment ferocious storms hit the Ely area this week.

Professional photographer Geoff Robinson took the dramatic photograph on Monday as heavy rain and winds of up to 50mph battered the district. The gusts grounded trees and caused traffic delays as the warm weather over the last few months took a turn for the worse in the wake of Hurricane Gonzala. Among the incidents was a tree which collapsed onto a lorry in Wilburton High Street on Tuesday morning. The driver was uninjured.

A Met Office spokeswoman said the winds felt stronger because the weather had been so settled over the last couple of months with above-average temperatures.

Architect attacked in park

AN architect suffered serious facial injuries when he was attacked in Ely's Cherry Hill Park.

Tony Walton, 67, of Waterside, was assaulted and robbed in the park, off Broad Street, either late last Wednesday night or in the early hours of last Thursday.

Mr Walton's wife, Angela, found him lying in the park just after 1.18am on Thursday.

Emergency services were called and he was taken to Addenbrooke's Hospital in Cambridge, where he remains in a "serious but stable" condition, according to police.

JORDAN DAY

Officers described the attack as "nasty" and "unprovoked" at the time.

Sue Freestone, principal at King's Ely, at which Mr Walton has a son, said the incident is a "real shock to the people of Ely".

She and her colleagues have also banned pupils from using Cherry Hill Park for the time being.

Mrs Freestone said: "This incident is a real shock to the people of Ely.

"Our hearts go out to the family involved; they are in our thoughts and prayers.

"King's Ely students are always advised to travel around the city in pairs or larger groups. "In light of the events of Wednesday evening, we have reinforced this advice and, for the time being, Cherry Hill Park is out of bounds for all pupils."

Mrs Walton was too distraught to speak to Ely News about the attack.

Two men and a woman were arrested in connection with the incident the following day.

Lee Jones, 32, of Skegness Road, Stevenage, and Sebastian Yellowe, 22, of Langthorne Avenue, Stevenage, have been charged with robbery and causing grievous bodily harm.

They appeared at Cambridge Magistrates' Court on Saturday and were remanded in custody to appear at the city's Crown court tomorrow.

The woman, aged 33, has been bailed until November 26.

BEAN BATH: Rob and Grace's challenge raised around £270.

Bean bath bonanza's £270 boost

A FATHER and daughter have raised almost £300 for charity – by drenching themselves in cold baked beans.

Rob Hancock, a teacher at Ely College, and his daughter, Grace, 15, a student at Soham Village College, held their 'Bean Bath Bonanza' at Ely's Lighthouse Centre on Saturday.

Ely Foodbank donated tins of beans which were damaged and past their sell-by-date, and people were able to pour them over the duo as they sat in a bath in wet suits.

They raised around £270 in sponsorship, which they are donating to the Luke Cory Trust, which provides holidays for seriously ill children.

People were also able to donate food to the foodbank. You can still sponsor them at www.virginmoneygiving.com/team/BeanBathBonanza.

Get fireworks tickets from us!

ELY'S annual fireworks display is celebrating its 40th anniversary this year – and families are being promised the biggest and best display to date.

This year's extravaganza is being held at Cherry Hill Park on Saturday, November 8.

The event, which is organised by Ely XT, usually raises at least £10,000 each year, all of which is split between local charities and groups.

David Baldock, a spokesman for Ely XT, said: "This popular event is provided by the community for the community."

"The Ely display has a reputation for being one of the best in the region and we will be spending even more this year to keep it that way.

"We hope to see the people out in force to maximise the money we can reinvest in the local community."

This year, the traditional guy competition has been extended to all youth groups under the age of 15. Every local school, pre-school or under-15s youth group that delivers a guy to the event on the day is guaranteed to receive a £100 donation, with the best entry scooping a £250 prize.

Gates to Cherry Hill Park will open at 5.30pm, the bonfire will be lit at 6.15pm and the fireworks will be let off from 6.45pm. Personal fireworks and sparklers are not allowed at the event.

Advance tickets are £3 for adults, £1.50 for children or £8 for family tickets, all of which are now available from Ely News' office, Specsavers, Ely Tourist Information Office, Soham Books, Littleport Bargain Centre and Twin Motor Company in Pound Lane, Sutton.

Tickets will also be sold from a stall at Ely Market on Saturday, November 1 and 8. Tickets on the gate will be £5 for adults and £2 for children. For information, visit www.elyxt.co.uk.

Littleport's Got Talent contest in aid of club

A CHILDREN'S X-Factor style talent contest is being held in Littleport.

The 'Littleport's Got Talent' event will take place at Littleport Ex-Serviceman's Club, in Pont's Hill, on Sunday, November 2.

Auditions are being held at the club on Tuesday, October 28 from 4-6pm and there are two age groups – children up to the age of 10 and those aged 11-18.

The competition itself kicks off at 4pm. Entry is free for contestants, £3 for adults and £1 for children. Cash prizes are up for grabs for the top performers.

All money raised will go to Littleport Rangers Football Club.

Call Sara on 07774 777326 for information.

Ely College 1978 leavers' reunion

A SCHOOL reunion will be raising much-needed funds for Cancer Research UK.

The reunion is for Ely College students who left the school in 1978 and is being held at Ely City Golf Club on Saturday, November 1 at 7.30pm. There will be a disco, refreshments and a raffle. Tickets are £5 on the door.

Marie Smith, who is helping to organise the event, said: "We decided to organise the reunion after attending the funeral of a school friend of ours, and as a result we have decided to raise funds for Cancer Research UK."

"I am overwhelmed by the generosity of local businesses who have given us raffle prizes and would like to express our heartfelt thanks for their support."

Ely Apple Festival – what a core-ker of a day we all had!

APPLES were the stars of the show in Ely on Saturday.

Thousands of people flocked to the city's Apple Festival on Palace Green.

The annual extravaganza – organised to celebrate the importance of the humble apple – saw families enjoying a whole host of apple-related activities, including apple and spoon races, an apple market, an apple shy, apple identification games and displays, wood turning demonstrations, storytelling, cookery demonstrations, folk music, Morris dancing and competitions, including the ever-popular longest apple peel contest.

There was also a 'Flight of Falcon' static display of birds of prey and a working bees display.

The festival is organised by East Cambridgeshire District Council and Watergull Orchards.

Tracey Harding, team leader for town centre services at the council, believes the event to be the "best apple festival in the country".

She said: "Our Apple Festival in Ely is always a brilliant day for the whole family as we honour the great tradition of British apples."

"There was so much going on that some people spent the whole day wandering around the different stalls and joining in on the fun."

"I am always staggered by how popular the apple identifiers are. From the moment we opened, they were besieged by people who had brought apples in from their garden and wanted to know more about them."

Our city: 'stop undermining it'

COUNCIL chiefs are being accused of "not doing enough" to support trade and tourism in Ely.

The East Cambridgeshire Green Party says the district council is "undermining the city centre" and that it should be doing more to enable business and tourism to flourish.

The authority has dismissed the claims and insists it is working with partners to promote the district as a whole.

But Andrew Allen, who co-ordinates the Green party, said: "Ely High Street is at the heart of the community, but not enough is being done to support it."

"The council must stop undermining the city centre with out-of-town development and do more to make the high street an attractive and welcoming place with a diverse range of shops."

JORDAN DAY

"Rather than focusing on building space for big retailers on the edge of the city, Ely should be pursuing a more balanced strategy that increases space in the centre of town."

The party also believes the council should "relocate the tourist information and main post office to a prominent shared city centre location" and "create a safe and attractive cycling and walking route from the railway station to the high street and the cathedral".

Cllr Richard Hobbs, chairman of the commercial services committee at East Cambridgeshire District Council, said: "The report from the local Green party makes very interesting reading for the simple reason it appears to have ignored all the district council has and is doing with our partners to promote Ely and East Cambridgeshire."

"For example, the town centres working party has developed over the last two years beyond simply building trust between local authorities, shops and businesses to focus on projects which are genuinely improving Ely."

"This group is helping to strike the balance between keeping an authentic beating heart to the city while attracting the shops and brands which people expect of a place the size of Ely."

"We have achieved all these great things despite having to make tough financial decisions to ensure we continue to deliver the services people need."

Are you brave enough to take on a ghost tour around Ely?

CELEBRATE Hallowe'en by taking part in a ghost tour in Ely.

The tours are being held every night from Monday, October 27 through to Friday, November 7 at 7.30pm.

On Hallowe'en itself, there will also be a 'Ghostly Tales Tour' at Oliver Cromwell House which will involve the telling of stories of mysterious shadows and strange voices from previous visitors and staff. The tour starts at 4pm. There will also be a 'Riverside Ghost Tour' on Hallowe'en at 7.30pm.

All tours start from Oliver Cromwell House and are suitable for children aged eight and over. For information, including prices, call (01353) 662062.

Hallowe'en frolics at hall market

FAMILIES were able to get into the spirit of Hallowe'en early in Little Downham.

A spooky indoor market was held at the village hall on Sunday.

For the adults, there was a whole host of stalls to browse, as well as refreshments.

Ghoulish games and activities kept the little ones entertained while their parents were shopping, plus there were colouring competitions, arts and crafts and music.

The event was organised by Funky Fayres Ely.

Upcoming events include two indoor Christmas markets – one at the village hall, in Main Street, on Sunday, November 16 and the other at Witchford Village Hall, in Bedwell Hey Lane, on Saturday, December 6.

Firm launches second appeal

CONTROVERSIAL plans to build 100 new homes in Haddenham are now the subject of an appeal.

Cheshire-based firm, Gladman Developments Ltd, has launched the appeal after East Cambridgeshire District Council refused its proposals to develop land south of number 18, Wilburton Road.

It comes just weeks after the company also lodged an appeal against the council's decision to reject its plans for 128 new homes on land north of Field End, Witchford.

In August, the council's planning committee decided against both sets of proposals.

Officers were recommending the plans for Haddenham were rejected, and that the decision on the plans for Witchford was delegated to the council's principal development manager.

JORDAN DAY

However, the committee's majority vote was to throw out the Witchford scheme too.

The committee's main concerns over the proposals were highways issues, a lack of available places at the villages' schools and that both villages would struggle to cope with that number of new homes.

Among those against the Haddenham plans was Alison Campbell-Smith, of School Lane, Aldreth.

In her objection, she said: "The significant increase in traffic resulting from this proposed development would result in crippling congestion for Haddenham and Wilburton and safety risk for pedestrians and other road users."

"The primary school in Haddenham has been full for each of the last eight years. Adding another 100 houses will mean that the children will have to travel out of the catchment area to find a primary school, which is not acceptable."

Local councillor Pauline Wilson, whose ward is Haddenham, was among those against the Witchford proposals.

She said: "Villages can cope with a few extra houses, but 128 houses is ridiculous as we do not have the infrastructure for such a large housing development."

People have until October 27 to have their say during the appeal process for the Witchford plans and until November 15 to speak up over the Haddenham appeal.

The final decision lies with the Secretary of State.

Prickwillow WI's win

PRICKWILLOW Women's Institute (WI) was victorious at the Isle of Ely Federation of WI's produce and craft show earlier this month.

A total of 20 WIs took part in the event, resulting in 137 entries spread between craft, baking and flower arranging. The WI which gained the most points overall was Prickwillow WI.

A spokeswoman for the federation said: "The entries were all of a very high standard which meant a hard task for the judges. It was a showcase of knowledge and the many skills we have in our federation."

Call (01354) 652284 for details about the federation.

Music extravaganza

A MUSIC festival is being held at the Ely Beet Club on Saturday (Oct 25).

Mickfest 3 is held every year in memory of Mick Gillett, a well-known local musician, video maker and agent who died of cancer in 2011, aged 51.

More than 20 local musicians, acts and bands will be performing at the festival, now in its third year, to help raise money for the Addenbrooke's Charitable Trust.

The event is running from 2pm until late. Tickets are £8 in advance or £10 on the door.

For tickets, visit Burrows Bookshop, the Ely Beet Club or go to www.mickfest.info.

Over 1,000 people attend Ely's Art Unequalled show

ART and craft enthusiasts were spoilt for choice in Ely at the weekend. More than 1,000 people flocked to the 'Art Unequalled' extravaganza at The Maltings on Saturday and Sunday.

The two-day annual extravaganza saw artists and craftspeople from across the UK, Ireland and France exhibiting their handmade artwork.

This year there were also talks and presentations from artists about their work, plus demonstrations and a storyteller telling tales from across the world.

The event, now in its fourth year, is organised by Sally Dunham, an award-winning ceramic sculptor based in Soham.

Sally said: "We had a fantastic weekend.

"There were around 1,400 people through the doors during the two days, which is brilliant.

"My aim with any event like this is to ensure the atmosphere is friendly and judging by the feedback I've received from visitors, that was certainly the case."

Plans are already under way for next year's Art Unequalled event, on October 17 and 18.

Sally is also holding an 'Art Town' show at the Abbey Gardens in Bury St Edmunds on May 15-17. Visit www.artunequalled.co.uk.

Arsonists blamed for fire in house

A BLAZE inside a derelict house in Soham is believed to have been started deliberately.

Fire crews from Soham and Newmarket were called to the fire in Paddock Street just after 11.35pm on Saturday.

An investigation is now under way as it is suspected that the fire was arson.

A spokeswoman for Cambridgeshire Fire and Rescue Service said: "A two-storey derelict house was on fire and firefighters wearing breathing apparatus used hose reels to extinguish it.

"Positive pressure ventilation fans were used to clear smoke from the building. Crews returned to their stations by 1.25am.

"The cause of the fire is believed to be deliberate."

Anyone with any information should call police on 101 or the independent charity Crimestoppers, anonymously, on 0800 555111.

Apology over 'body by bins'

THE chief executive of the East of England Ambulance Service (EEAS) has apologised for an incident in which a dead body was allegedly left lying beside dustbins at Ely ambulance station.

In a statement, Dr Anthony Marsh said: "We are very sorry for what happened and have launched a thorough investigation. This involves working with the family and everyone who responded to the patient."

As reported last week, the body – reportedly that of a young man – was allegedly found in a public place not far from the city and an EEAS crew – from outside the area – was sent to collect it.

However, according to a whistleblower, instead of transporting the body to the mortuary at Addenbrooke's Hospital in Cambridge, the crew left the body, in a body bag, beside bags of rubbish in the corner of the garage at the ambulance station in Nutholt Lane in Ely.

The source, who did not wish to be named, said the incident happened around a month ago and that the out-of-area crew had taken the body to Ely ambulance station "in the hope of transferring the deceased patient to the crew about to start at 7am" because going to Addenbrooke's would have made them late finishing their shift.

Last week an EEAS spokesman said: "An incident last month involving the transportation of a deceased patient is under investigation."

"As such we cannot comment any further."

Amnesty group's Ben Jupp Memorial Lecture at cathedral

A MAN who was tortured in prison in South America will be talking about his search for justice at Ely Cathedral on Sunday.

Perico Rodriguez, a committed socialist from Patagonia, was wrongly jailed in 1976 and spent three years being repeatedly tortured.

He was eventually released thanks to an Amnesty International appeal and now works as a counsellor at Freedom from Torture.

Perico, who now lives in London, will be talking about his experiences by hosting Amnesty International Ely City Group's Ben Jupp Memorial Lecture at the cathedral.

It starts at 6pm, admission is free.

Police locate stolen red van

A RED van stolen from a home in Ely has been located.

The former Royal Mail Vauxhall Combo vehicle was stolen from Deacons Lane. As previously reported, the theft happened between 7pm and 8pm on Wednesday, October 8.

Police have confirmed that the van was located in Priors Court, off Benedict Street, on October 11, and that investigations are ongoing.

Ely has a bright future

IT was terrific to read of Burrows' celebrations of its 115 years of outstanding service to Ely and to hear Jeff Burrows talk of "meeting so many nice people" during his several decades on the High Street.

Great business is always about great people and nothing could exemplify that more than Burrows' reputation and quiet longevity. How sad then that just a week previously had come the news that Fisher and Co were to shut their Buttermarket jewellery shop to concentrate their energies on the company's Norwich operation, and even sadder to hear its owner Mr Zelle describe Ely as "struggling". Ely's star is now firmly in the ascendant, for its residents, its retailers and its businesses; our decision to open a branch of Mr Simms was not taken lightly and we needed to know well before making a date with the estate agent to view the old Fenway shop that we were going to be able to enjoy the sort of success that meant we could brook quieter days and recessionary blips. We were always going to be there for the longer journey and that meant we needed to muster local support and trust for what we were doing and to back it up with good product, competitive prices and first class customer service. Because the customer always comes first.

Since becoming part of the retail community we've watched as local shops have continued to offer their very best, taking particular advantage of the increased footfall created by superb outdoor markets, any number of cathedral and city events and free parking. This last item is such a rarity and so very important to Ely's continuing success story. Norwich may well be a fine city but Ely, every time, scores so highly against it on so many levels. Of course there are gaps in our retail offering – our population is still having trouble getting past 20,000 where Norwich's is ten times that – but so much is going to change over the next few years that any retailer should be proud, like Jeff Burrows, to know that professional courtesy can change the world and that a smile travels faster than light. Customers? Love 'em.

Work was worth the wait

I WOULD like to say via your letters page, what a fantastic job the City of Ely Council and their contractor have done, bringing the outside of the old Courthouse back to its former glory. While the public are quick to condemn the lack of action, these things take time, and I think it has been well worth the wait.

So well done City of Ely Council, a building for all residents and visitors to be proud of.

Don't let river lose its charm

AS new residents in the City, our walks along the riverside have been made more enjoyable by the contrast between the Ely Ouse and the River Lea in Walthamstow near our old home. There, the authorities had for years ignored the increasing number of boats moored along both sides of the river being used as permanent homes.

These boats never moved though regulations state that boats can only stay for a 14-day period.

The rubbish that built up on and around the boats and the use by the boat owners of the land to store/dump their belongings gradually made the area look like a shantytown. Most of the boats at Ely seem well kept and enhance the area.

When the 'dry dock' first appeared we wondered what it was and how long it would remain, as it is so ugly. Why can't it be moved into the marina?

Please don't allow the river to lose its charm and attraction to both residents and visitors.

Dr Green to hang up his stethoscope

RETIRING: Dr Alain Green has been based at St George's Medical Centre for 11 years.

A POPULAR doctor based in Littleport is retiring later this month.

Dr Alain Green will be hanging up his stethoscope after 11 years at St George's Medical Centre, in Parsons Lane.

Dr Green worked in the NHS from 1974-1978 and then joined the RAF Medical Branch. In 1984 he was based at the RAF Hospital in Ely as the consultant pathologist and ran the anti-coagulation clinic for the local community.

From 1989-1996 he served elsewhere at both home and abroad. With the force's redundancies in 1996 he had to re-train and qualified as a

GP in 2001 when he joined Littleport Health Centre in Granby Street, which subsequently moved to new premises at St George's Medical Centre in 2003. Gary Shepherd, manager at St George's, said: "Alain will be sadly missed by patients and staff alike."

How about we all pay £20...

FOLLOWING the letter in this week's Ely News I would like to add that I too along with many others think something needs to be done about the dreadful carbuncle in the market square. It really needs knocking down but as money is always an issue is it not possible to put a new facade on this hideous 60s monstrosity?

If everyone in and around the area who could afford a little, contributed say £20, to the 'save Ely from this carbuncle' fund, this could amount to quite a sum and would improve Ely for everyone.

We have such a lovely city it seems such a shame to have it spoilt by this building.

This road has become a rat run

LIVING on Kings Avenue has changed in the past few years from a normal residential area, with a normal amount of local traffic, to an almost unbearable rat run of speeding cars and monster lorries that hurtle past shaking the very foundations of the houses.

The opening of the roundabout at the Queen Adelaide end of the road was a disaster, creating this short cut for so much inappropriate traffic.

Surely this calls for weight restrictions and traffic calming measures before someone is hurt, and for the benefit of us who live on what is meant to be a residential road?

My heart goes out to them

I HAD to write to you concerning your front page story in last week's edition regarding the dreadful treatment of a man's body which was left by the bins for almost an hour.

My heart goes out to his poor family and shame on the paramedics in question. My Uncle has suffered a variety of health issues for many years and he had a very bad turn a few months ago where we felt an ambulance should be called.

When the very bolshy paramedic turned up, after examining my uncle she informed us that their shift should have finished over an hour ago and did we want our uncle taken to hospital – or what?!

Our response was 'well you tell us!' They eventually took him to Addenbrooke's and where he was admitted for 3 days! I work in a local opticians and if a customer was choosing glasses and it was time to close, can I say 'sorry I am closing now as it's my home time, I will lock the door and when you have chosen your glasses the cleaning staff will let you out when they arrive in an hour'?

I think not. If we are all conscientious and have pride in our work and want to be of service to others we put that little bit of extra in, that's surely what life should be all about, not being selfish and being more concerned about getting home to cook the tea!

I know not all paramedics are like these certain ones and in general 95% of them do a superb job, but if you are not prepared to put in that bit extra maybe it's time to opt for a new career.

Getting to grips with science and maths

PROBLEM SOLVING: More than 300 pupils from across the region took part in the STeM event at Soham Village College.

ALGEBRA and the effects of gravity were among the things examined by students in Soham.

More than 300 pupils flocked to Soham Village College (SVC) for its annual STeM event last week. The cross-phase initiative is designed to improve students' skills in science, technology and maths by running a week-long programme of fun activities themed around the subjects. This year's programme was attended by a total of 320 Year 6 pupils from both of Soham's primary schools; The Weatheralls and St Andrew's, as well as Ely St John's, Kennett, Fordham, Little Thetford, Ditton Lodge and Burwell Village

College primary schools.

A spokeswoman for SVC said: "STeM is a lovely cross-phase event where our staff and Year 8 students work with pupils from our feeder primary schools on science, technology and maths problems. It's great to see them all coming together."

Couple appeal after daylight burglary

A COUPLE whose home was burgled in broad daylight are appealing for the culprits to return the thousands of pounds worth of "irreplaceable" jewellery they took.

Graham and Dinah Ellis say the majority of the haul stolen from their home in Witchford Road, Ely, is "highly sentimental" as the pieces were left to Dinah, 56, when her father died around 30 years ago.

Burglars broke into the shed at the rear of their home, which they have lived in for around 15 years, and took a spade which they used to smash a window in their dining room. The break-in happened some time between 9am and 4.20pm last Tuesday.

The offenders made off with thousands of pounds worth of jewellery, including rings, bracelets, necklaces a Rotary watch, as well as two jewellery boxes, valuable foreign coins – and an unopened bottle of Jack Daniels whisky.

Graham, 58, said: "We've lived here for around 15 years and nothing like this has ever happened before.

"Being burgled is a horrible thing. It makes you feel unhappy and uneasy in your own home.

"Dinah returned home and unlocked the front door to find that the chain on the inside was on, which obviously she thought was strange as she knew I wasn't at home.

"When she went into the kitchen she saw that all the cupboards and drawers were open. When she saw that the dining room window was smashed and open, that's when it all dawned on her.

"Dinah ran outside to call the police as she was scared that somebody might have still been inside."

Graham said: "The jewellery stolen is highly sentimental. We really want it back.

"If the offenders are reading this we'd urge them to somehow get it back to us. The items are irreplaceable."

Graham said a pillow case and laptop case were also stolen. It is believed the offenders used them to carry the jewellery.

Anyone with any information should call DC Rachel McKenzie on 101.

See crime thriller Rope at college

CRIME thriller, Rope, is being staged in Ely.

The Ely Amateur Dramatic Society has been given permission by Samuel French Ltd to perform the play. A spokeswoman for the society said: "Come and see what Wyndham Brandon and Charles Granillo get up to for the mere sake of adventure and danger as the plot of Rope unravels before your eyes."

Performances are at Ely College's Needham's Hall from Thursday, October 30 through to Saturday, November 1 at 7.30pm each night. Tickets are £8, or £7 for concessions, and are available from Burrows Bookshop in Ely.

Rare concert at Ely Cathedral

THE award-winning Ely Choral Society and Wymondham Symphony Orchestra are joining forces to perform at Ely Cathedral on Saturday.

They are collaborating to present a rare opportunity to hear Anton Bruckner's E minor Mass, which is his first recognised masterpiece.

The performance is being held in the cathedral's Lady Chapel and will be conducted by Andrew Parnell.

The programme also contains well-known Bruckner motets and works for brass and woodwind.

The concert starts at 7.30pm and tickets range in price from £20 to £5.

For tickets or details, call the cathedral box office on (01353) 660349.

DOG LOVER: Sarah with her own dog, Mac.

A dog's life for Sarah, 52

JORDAN DAY

A DOG lover will be spending 24 hours living like her favourite animal on the scariest day of the year to raise money for pooches in need.

Sarah Turner, 52, is a volunteer at Poplar Farm Rescue Kennels in Sutton Gault, which is run by Dave and Rachel Linford.

Mum-of-two Sarah visits the kennels once or twice a week to help feed, clean out, exercise and fuss the homeless hounds – but she has decided she wants to do even more to help.

On Hallowe'en – which also happens to be her birthday – she will be spending 24 hours in a kennel at Poplar Farm.

Armed with just a small portable toilet, a sleeping bag and a bowl of water, she will spend her time inside the kennel with one of the dogs, to find out just what life can be like for a dog desperately seeking a loving home.

Like the dogs, she will be fed twice a day. So far, Sarah has raised around £200 in sponsorship.

To donate, visit www.poplarfarmkennels.org.uk.

Plans approved for new homes

PLANS to build 50 new homes and a doctor's surgery in Stretham have been rubber-stamped.

It was in January that the Stretham and Wilburton Community Land Trust (CLT) applied for planning permission to develop land at Manor Farm, which lies east of Meadowcroft.

As well as the 50 new homes, 15 of which will be classed as 'affordable', the proposals also involve building a doctor's surgery, three small starter business units, a 0.24 hectare extension to the village cemetery and 1.08 hectares of new open space.

The plans were approved by East Cambridgeshire District Council, subject to conditions, in July and on Friday, those conditions, including Section 106 agreements, were approved by the council's planning committee.

The CLT is the first of its kind in East Cambridgeshire. All properties are protected by a legal 'asset-lock' which means they will remain in the ownership of the local community forever.

Rotary Club of Ely is seeking more members

THE Rotary Club of Ely is looking for more members.

A spokesman for the club, which was formed in 1939, said: "Are you a professional lady/gentleman? Would you enjoy a regular lunch with like-minded, friendly people?"

"Are you willing to help the less fortunate members of the local community and internationally?"

"We meet once a week at Witchford Village Hall when we have a relaxing lunch, with most members meeting for pre-lunch drinks and a chat."

"We organise major events in the Ely area, including Father Christmas's tour on his sleigh every December, when money is collected to help local good causes."

"Every year in July we also organise Aquafest, a riverside extravaganza, for all the family."

"More social events are held throughout the year when partners and guests are especially welcome."

"If you would like to be involved, or even join us for a complimentary lunch, (without any obligation), please get in touch."

The club meets at Witchford Village Hall, in Bedwell Hey Lane, on Wednesdays at 12.30pm for 1pm.

For information, call the club secretary on (01353) 649482 or the membership secretary on (01638) 780827.

Alternatively, email ericgrant@talktalk.net or visit the website: www.rotary-ribi.org/clubs/homepage.php?ClubID=467.

Global recognition for organist Parker

SKILLED MUSICIAN: Parker Ramsay won the 2014 Sweelinck International Organ Competition.

A TALENTED musician who was educated in Ely has been announced as the winner of a world-renowned competition.

Parker Ramsay, a former student at King's Ely, has won the 2014 Sweelinck International Organ Competition.

Parker, from Dickson County Tennessee, attended King's between 2007 and 2009, when he won an organ scholarship into the sixth-form. Parker achieved two music diplomas with distinction – DipABRSM on both harp and organ. He continued with his studies on the harp at the London Conservatoire and with Paul Treppe, director of music at Ely Cathedral, on the organ.

Parker was also a verger at the cathedral for around a year after he finished his studies at King's.

He then gained the diploma of Associate of the Royal College of Organists, before going on to win a prestigious organ scholarship to King's College, Cambridge.

With its famous Service of Nine Lessons and Carols, as well as concerts, recitals and overseas tours, it is one of the most coveted organ awards at undergraduate level in the world.

Sue Freestone, principal of King's Ely, said: "Parker was always destined to do well and it was only a matter of time until he stepped onto the international musical platform."

A spokeswoman for the cathedral said: "His talent and love of choral music led Parker to apply for the role of verger at Ely shortly after finishing his post as organ scholar."

"He must have been the most musical verger we have ever had accompanying at services on the cathedral organ and regular recitals on the harp."

Free family fun for all thanks to annual festival

FAMILIES can learn everything from circus skills to ice skating thanks to a special festival in Cambridgeshire.

The county's Family Learning Festival kicked off on Saturday and is running right the way through to Sunday, November 2.

The activities are all free and are for people of all ages, including children, parents, grandparents, aunts and uncles. The festival is part of a national campaign to get families learning together.

The activities are being sponsored by Cambridgeshire County Council's Family Learning Service and other partners, and range from ice skating and Ceilidh dancing to circus skills and archery.

Flora Sheringham, family learning manager at the council, said: "There is a wide variety of fun activities going on across the county."

"There is Indian dancing at Chesterton and the Ram Jam book festival in Ramsey. There are all sorts of Chinese cultural activities in Cambridge and circus skills in Littleport – all this on top of the usual cookery and sports activities."

"We want to show families that it is fun to learn together and there are powerful benefits for all ages."

Libraries across the county will also be hosting a variety of events.

The festival is an annual awareness campaign organised by the Campaign for Learning and promotes and supports family learning events across the country.

Local furniture makers and home furnishings company Interiors of Ely is now under new management. The new team took over the business in April, and are keen to let the people of Ely - and beyond - know about their brilliant range of services and goods.

With spray booth for Farrow and Ball paints and lacquers in numerous colour to choose from, homeowners can specify not only their perfect style (from distressed, to contemporary, to shabby chic), but also the perfect colour-scheme for their home. The expert furniture makers can reproduce a precise design from a photograph or picture, or are also delighted to advise you and provide inspiration if you are short of your own ideas.

Meanwhile, Interiors of Ely is run by partners Nigel Wright and Derek Hart. Customer care is always a priority; you can browse their great selection of furniture, including soft furnishings such as sofas, rugs and carpets all under one roof.

Unsurprisingly, the firm is rapidly building up a collection of delighted customers. So positive is their experience, in fact, that new business often comes through recommendations from satisfied buyers who have already used the service. And with all work guaranteed for 12 months, excellent service and aftercare it is plain to see just how much pride the new management team put into their work, with customer service and customer care the very top priority.

The firm is divided into two sections. The Pine Workshop, which has been trading for more than 25 years, is run by owner Nigel Wright, with more than 36 years of experience in the trade. Specialising in crafting beautiful bespoke furniture, they can produce kitchens, fitted or free-standing or any other items of furniture: to your specific requirements.

And that's not all. If you have a piece of furniture that is much-loved but no longer at its best, bring it in to the Pine Workshop and the helpful team will repair it to its former glory.

With stock both new and auction-sourced, you will be sure to find a style and period that works for you. Other services include antique restoration, and carpet fitting, and the company also has its own in-house photographer, Emily Williams of Ely Studios who is busy building up a portfolio of all the beautiful work that has been carried out so far.

BRIGHT FUTURES: Staff from Produce World talk to Lis Every and youngsters from Ely College.

Helping young people flourish

STUDENTS were encouraged to aim high when thinking about their future at the first ever East Cambridgeshire Careers and Skills Fair.

The inaugural event saw around 1,000 Year 11 and sixth-form students from the district's four secondary schools descending on The Maltings in Ely last Thursday.

Representatives from around 50 firms and organisations were present to inspire and advise the youngsters through speed networking, Q&A sessions and exhibitions.

The fair, which was formally opened by Ely's mayor, Cllr Lis Every, also highlighted to the students the skills and qualifications they need to get jobs in certain sectors, plus the careers available on their doorstep.

Cllr Bill Hunt, who leads on economic development at East Cambridgeshire District Council, said: "When you are young you have the world at your feet but often you don't know in which direction to turn."

"We hope the fair acted as a guide to help students to make informed decisions by being inspired by the advice they heard."

"A huge amount of work went into the planning of the day from the schools, businesses and the council which goes to show that yet again, by working together, we can better deliver for our young people."

Catherine Jenkinson-Dix,

principal of Ely College, said: "Events like this are vital for young people, not only with respect to helping them plan for their future careers, but also to provide opportunities for them to engage with the local community."

"I am certain that the students benefited greatly, but I am equally sure that the business leaders themselves benefited too."

The fair, which will become an annual event, was jointly organised by the district council, Ely College and the Cambridge Area 14-19 Partnership.

Just some of the organisations which took part included G's Marketing, Shearline Precision Engineering, Michell Instruments, Kier Construction and Sainsbury's.

Get up close to swans at WWT

THOUSANDS of swans have started to land at the Wildfowl and Wetlands Trust (WWT) in Welney as they prepare to spend the cold winter on the Ouse Washes.

And as of today, you can get up close to them, and lots of other species of wildfowl, as the reserve is launching its annual programme of swan feeds.

The feeds are being held every day at 3.30pm.

A spokeswoman for the reserve said: "Watch thousands of wild swans and ducks being fed whilst listening to a live commentary. The birds jostle for the food and are fascinating to watch from the comfort of the heated hide."

"Shortly after the feed at dusk more swans fly in, providing an unmissable end to the day."

The daily feeds, running right the way through to Christmas Eve, are suitable for people of all ages, as well as people in wheelchairs and children in pushchairs.

As of November 1, floodlit feeds will then be held from Thursday through to Sunday at 6.30pm.

For information, call (01353) 860711 or visit www.wwt.org.uk/wetland-centres/welney/.

Creative Ely's second birthday

CREATIVE Ely – the monthly meet-up for local people in the creative industries – is celebrating its second birthday next month.

Founded by Sue Keogh from web and social media specialists Sookio, Creative Ely offers creative people in the area the opportunity to build relationships, share ideas and generate work for each other.

Since the group began in November 2012, it has welcomed a huge range of speakers – from local tattoo artists Almost Angels and Raspberry Pi's artist-in-residence Rachel Rayns, to poet Wendy Cope and poster designers We Three Club.

Sue said: "Every month I look around the room and it's so great to see people forming these bonds and helping the creative community in Ely thrive."

The group's next meeting will see local author Ellee Seymour talking about her new book, The Shop Girls.

The group meets at The Cutter, in Annesdale, on the first Tuesday of the month at 7.30pm. Visit www.creativeely.co.uk.

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Tim Law feels that it's all about service. "Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 5 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole."

Cloudy2Clear service the Cambridge, Ely, Saffron Walden, Haverhill, Royston & Newmarket areas and Tim is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. "The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated."

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Tim a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Check your fire alarms too this weekend

RESIDENTS are being urged to test their smoke alarms at the same time they are putting their clocks back this weekend.

Cambridgeshire Fire and Rescue Service's (CFRS) chief fire officer Graham Staggs said: "We are also asking people to test the smoke alarms of elderly and vulnerable family members and neighbours too."

"If you are visiting a relative or friend, please make sure they have a working smoke alarm on each floor of their home."

"We know that smoke alarms save lives. They can give you and your family the necessary warning to get out in the early stages of a fire, and call 999, which should in turn allow us to get to you more quickly."

Once a smoke alarm is fitted, it requires regular testing and simple cleaning. CFRS recommends that people should check their alarm by pressing the button once a week and that they should change the alarm's battery once a year.

CFRS provides free home fire safety checks for vulnerable and elderly residents. Specialist smoke alarms can also be provided for people who may be deaf or suffering from a hearing impairment.

Stores raise funds for foundation

WAITROSE customers have raised more than £6,000 for the Liam Fairhurst Foundation.

Soham teenager Callum Fairhurst, who launched the foundation in memory of his brother, who lost his battle with cancer in 2009, was invited to talk about the charity at an event at Corkers Crisps, in Little Downham, in the spring.

Waitrose managers from across East Anglia were present and decided to support the foundation via the firm's Community Matters' green token scheme.

A total of 17 stores took part, raising a whopping £6,422. Callum said the money will be used to send sick children and their families to Disneyland Paris.

Opposition mounts over King's plans

OPPOSITION is mounting against plans to build a new house in one of Ely's busiest streets.

JORDAN DAY

Governors at King's Ely have scaled back their proposals to develop land at the rear of 35, St Mary's Street, by applying for planning permission to build just one three-bedroom house on the land, which is located next door to St Mary's Surgery and Lloyds Pharmacy, and reached via the access to the surgery car park.

But the revised scheme is failing to satisfy objectors.

A decision looks set to be made by East Cambridgeshire District Council's planning committee.

Frank Redhead, of Downham Road, said: "Presently, cars and delivery vehicles serve only the existing house on the application site, but this proposal would double traffic activity to the site."

"A visitor arriving at either the original or the new house in a motor vehicle, finding no free parking space, could not turn and exit in a forward gear."

"The driver would instead have to reverse about 50m to the street and negotiate the site's gateway at a point where the traffic for a busy doctor's surgery and Lloyds Pharmacy passes in both directions."

Jackie Stone, of Parade Lane, is also worried about traffic and highway safety, but also the impact the new property could have on wildlife and nearby residents' privacy. She said: "Any development in the garden will overlook the properties on the boundary, resulting in a lack of privacy for those of us who currently live there."

The city council says access to the site is "not acceptable" and that the development would have a "detrimental impact on the visual scene of Parade Lane".

Members have asked for the proposals to be determined by the district council's planning committee.

In a statement, the school's agents, Cheffins, said: "The space available has been fully utilised with regard to the sensitivities and constraints of the site."

Samantha snaps up a major national prize

NATALIE ROBINSON

A PHOTOGRAPHER has won a national competition – despite deciding to enter her work just two days before the deadline.

Samantha Adamson, a self-taught photographer from Littleport, decided to enter the competition after spotting a recruitment agency campaign on Facebook.

Major Players, a recruitment agency for marketing and creative recruitment, called on photographers to submit "outstanding images that depicted being 'Major'".

Award-winning photographer Tim Flach judged the hundreds of entries – and picked Samantha's image as the winner.

The image, entitled 'This is Major', is a bold and striking photograph of a woman that Samantha said could be interpreted in different ways.

She said: "The concept was to make a major image and I thought everyone would go for something that looks big so I made my photo so it could be interpreted in different ways."

WINNER: Samantha Adamson

Samantha, 29, won £1,000 in prize money and she will have her work displayed at the Major Players office in London.

Samantha runs her own photography business – Black Cravat photography – from a studio in Wellington Street, Newmarket.

She said winning the competition was a continuation of "living the dream" in her career, which started thanks to her best friend, Justin Linnegar, who died in a car accident around six years ago.

Visit www.blackcravat.co.uk to see more of her work.

THE BEST: Samantha Adamson won the competition with this image, entitled 'This is Major'.

Laptops and phones for police

POLICE officers and police community support officers in the Ely area are to receive laptops and Windows phones.

Cambridgeshire Constabulary will be issuing frontline police staff with laptops or slates and phones in a bid to "help save money and improve the efficiency of officers".

After securing investment from the Government's innovation fund, the Mobile Working Solution Project will be expanding the users issuing inspectors, special constables and PCSOs with mobile devices also.

During the last year, the force says 170 slates and 170 laptops have been piloted by frontline staff.

Chief Superintendent Dan Vajzovic said: "Technological improvements are key to delivering policing within a climate of change and cost savings."

"It is essential that all operational staff have access to the right in-house systems and training, to allow them to work in the same way."

"The pilots have shown the dedication and leadership of officers to make mobile devices work for them and the communities that they serve."

Tile styles to go the

YOU may already know about Mam Tiling in Littleport, and their great selection of tiles. But what you might not be aware of is that they now have a whole new and improved showroom: and a brilliant new range of stock.

Since April this year, the popular family firm has been operating from the new premises in Camel Road. The expanding business is now able to offer an even wider selection of tiles, from the largest 80 x 80 size down to tiny, beautiful mosaic tiles, for trade and the general public.

And if you've always fancied re-tiling, but are daunted by the thought of all those fiddly squares, then your worries are over. Mam Tiling's Mark Mason and his team provides a full and excellent fitting service too. With Mark's more than 20 years of commercial tiling experience, you can be sure of first-class workmanship if you choose to use this service.

Joined by wife Eva, a customer service expert who says "I like to treat our customers like I would want to be treated: I want them to go away happy", Mam Tiling is getting bigger and better thanks to its satisfied band of customers, many of whom return more than once when they need a new tiling job to be done on their home.

With prestigious clients under their belt, such as the boutique Poet's House hotel in Ely and The Anchor in Little Downham, you can be sure that the quality of work will be second to none.

From the innovative wood-effect floor tiles that are proving extremely popular at the moment (a stronger and very stylish alternative to laminate flooring) through to more traditional styles, the choice on offer at Mam Tiles is vast. They stock everything from porcelain tiles to rustic tiles, ceramic wall tiles and more, and the friendly team are always very happy to advise you on the best choice for your home.

If you are planning on fitting the tiles yourself, don't forget that they also stock all of the adhesives, grouts and trims that DIYers will need, in large or small quantities, to get the job done.

And what else is new? Well, the exciting news is that Mam Tiling is now launching a kitchen service, applying the very same levels of service and expertise as they have become so well known for with tiling.

With the lovely Eco and Colonial kitchen ranges, Eva Mason can work with you to design your dream kitchen, which their reliable and skilled team of fitters can then install for you, with a minimum of fuss and maximum efficiency.

With so much going on, the best way that you can keep up with developments at this busy, friendly, fami-

'Autism gives him pride in himself and acceptance'

When her first-born son Evan was diagnosed with autism at just 2 years old, Esther Harris admits it was an incredibly testing time. Eight years on, the mum-of-two tells Lydia Fallon she's a better person and mum because of her experience, and now wants to help other families dealing with special needs.

FRIDAY night is 'chip night' for the Harris family, one of 10-year-old Evan's favourite nights of the week. Due to my arrival at their Ely home, it's been temporarily put on hold, but thankfully Evan, and his 4-year-old brother Morgan, don't hold it against me too much. "He was a little bit worried he wasn't going to get his chips," mum Esther chuckles, giving him a little squeeze. "But I've reassured him we're still having them, just a bit later!"

A smiley little chap, Evan loves watching TV, playing on his computer, and generally getting up to mischief, just like any other 10-year-old. But behind his cheeky grin, Evan is hiding a condition which makes him see the world a little differently from his peers. "He's like a square peg in a round hole," says Esther.

Evan is autistic. He struggles with social and communication impairments and also has issues with language, behaviour and sensory processing. Raising a child with special needs does, Esther says, throw up its challenges, but she wouldn't have her little boy any other way. "At the beginning it was very difficult," she remembers. "Quite often with special needs children, people say it's a grieving process you go through for the child you think you're going to have."

"But the steps of the grieving process are quite linear, and then you come to the end where it's acceptance, with a special needs child it's almost cyclical."

"You're going round and round all the time; feeling anger at whoever you feel isn't helping you out, anger at yourself for feeling you're not doing enough for your child and then you come back round to acceptance. Then something else might happen and you're grieving all over again."

Esther adds: "It's constant, but that's not to say we don't accept Evan and don't absolutely love him for who he is."

Esther and her husband Graham are keen to extend a helping hand to other families facing the same struggles, and recently set up a blog, The Square Peg, to raise awareness and share their own experiences.

"We started blogging about life with a child with special needs to hopefully be a support to others. That's the point of it, it's not: here is my life and this is how wonderful or how awful it is, it was about creating community support," Esther explains.

But the ultimate dream is to build a hub equipped to offer support to children like Evan in the community. Over the years they've held various fundraising events, and on November 4 will be holding their biggest one to date: a glamorous fashion show at the Old Hall in Ely.

Featuring a host of local designers and stunning models, all the money raised will go towards support for Evan and other special needs families. "It's just snowballed," laughs Esther. "We've always thought small, but we've been encouraged to think big and it's going to be an amazing event."

"We want to use the money to help Evan sensory-wise. We're redoing his bedroom at the moment, so we want to put sensory equipment in there and then have a room in the garden to offer to other special needs families where children can come and chill out, as it can be hard to find somewhere to go."

"In my ideal world I'd love to have somewhere in town, somewhere community based. A place where young adults with special needs could work, and a support and respite for families."

"That would be my huge idea," Esther grins.

Evan is a lovely boy, and it's not hard to see why the whole community has rallied around the Harris' cause with such enthusiasm. The support, Esther says, has been heart-warming. "It's totally unexpected," she smiles. "We've never thought of ourselves as victims and we never expected any help, but it's really been amazing."

Evan was diagnosed with autism at the age of 2, but Esther had her suspicions long before that. "Quite early on we started to notice he might be showing symptoms of autism, but I didn't want to say it out loud."

"He was developing quite typically but would have episodes where he would be quite quiet and almost turn in on himself, like he was concentrating for days on end and closed off to the world. It was like he needed this intense time where he had to just be on his own," Esther explains.

At around 16 months it became even more noticeable that Evan was developing very differently to other babies his age. He had some speech, but then seemed to lose it all, and

MY BOYS: Esther with Evan and Morgan

Esther and Graham were becoming increasingly concerned. "Because Evan was our first-born it was very difficult for us. I had a few friends who were pregnant at the same time as me and the differences in our children were really apparent."

Evan was referred to the child development centre at Addenbrooke's, and psychologists spent time studying his behaviour and characteristics. When autism was officially diagnosed it was, Esther admits, a blow, but also a huge relief to finally know what was wrong with their son, "because we could start to give him the help he needed."

Evan was able to start pre-school aged 3, but after a few months it became clear he was struggling with the unpredictability of other toddlers his age. Making a decision to teach him from home, Esther and Graham trained in a social programme called Son-Rise. It proved a success, in fact, a huge success, and Evan soon started to build his communication skills, much to his parents' delight. "It's all about acceptance and getting to know Evan's world and understanding him, before we say 'now this is how you act in our world,'" says Esther, describing the programme.

After two years, it became apparent Evan was ready to experience school, and he enrolled at Highfield Special School, where he's since thrived (as have his baking skills, he proudly shows off a batch of cakes he made at school). "The teachers there are so dedicated and accepting; he's come on leaps and bounds."

But on a day-to-day basis, there's no denying Evan needs constant care and attention. "He shows lots of sensory-seeking behaviours, so he does lots of jumping up and down and clapping. When he was 3 that was cute but now he's 10, not so cute," Esther laughs. "He can speak, read and is quite intelligent, but in terms of his language, expressive language and conversation skills, he is very much behind. He has a very different kind of imagination, it isn't that autistic children don't have one, but in terms of understanding empathy and imagining how you feel, imagining how you would react to certain things, that is not in his understanding at all."

Has Esther's experiences with Evan changed her at all? "He's taught me patience," she muses. "He has taught me a different way of living and a different way of life."

"He's taught me about acceptance and to celebrate the small, simple things in life."

That's not to say they don't have their hard days too.

The Harris' family grew four years ago when little Morgan was born. They were over the moon, but raising two children, with very different needs, can prove a tough task.

"They are poles apart so it can be difficult to bring them up in parallel. When we go to social occasions, Morgan wants to stay and play but for Evan there is only a small amount of time he can tolerate. He loves seeing people, but it's definitely on his own terms and for a much shorter period. "But they are starting to get on," Esther adds. "and Evan is developing a deeper understanding of relationships because of Morgan."

Small-mindedness in people who don't always fully understand the condition also throws up the occasional obstacle. "I think people were more accepting of Evan and his behaviours when he was little and cute, but as he gets older, it does get more difficult," Esther shrugs. "We were in a supermarket once and Evan got quite excited and knocked against this man as he ran past him. The man came up to me and said 'Your son should be in Tesco, that's where all the yobs are'."

"There was another incident when a man told his children to come away from Evan because he wasn't 'right', and you do actually come across the looks and the tuts quite a lot."

Over the years the Harris family have built up a thick skin to that kind of ignorance, and see no reason why Evan won't continue to blossom into a happy and fulfilled young man.

"I hope he will be able to work, for his own satisfaction and independence. But mainly I want him to be happy; every parent wants their kids to be happy, don't they?"

And whatever the future holds, Esther is, and always will be, incredibly proud of her boy. "The thing I'm most proud of is that despite everything he is his own man. My husband calls him Currahee, which is Cherokee for 'stands alone' and that is exactly what he does."

"What autism gives him is not all negative; it gives him pride in himself and acceptance."

New kitchen showroom to open

A NEW kitchen showroom is set to open in Ely today.

Dream Doors is opening at the top of Forehill. Gareth and Louise Kavanagh-Dixon run the Cambridgeshire franchise of Dream Doors and applied for planning permission to take over the former Thompsons premises earlier this year.

Ely's Mayor, Lis Every, is officially opening the showroom at 12pm and from 2pm there will be cookery demonstrations with Fiona Pattissiere, as well as a free prize draw with the chance to win kitchen appliances and accessories. The winners will be drawn at 3pm on Saturday.

Tomorrow, from 2-4pm there will also be cheese tasting with Allgoods of Ely. Champagne and canapes will also be served throughout the weekend. Call (01353) 659825.

Mum Joanna's in the business of shoe art

JORDAN DAY

A MUM has combined her love of shoes and art to launch a new business.

Joanna Branson, 29, is a primary school teacher by day but by night, and at the weekends, she is the shoe queen – unleashing her artistic flair to create hand painted and embellished shoes and bags.

Since setting up her business, 'Shoenique – Life is too short for boring shoes' earlier this year, Joanna has created masterpieces for people across the UK and Europe – and as far as Australia.

She is also now dipping her toes into the celebrity market as she has recently designed shoes for actress Savannah Stevenson, who plays Glinda in the West End musical,

SHOENIQUE: Joanna runs her business from her Stretham home.

Wicked.

Joanna, who runs the business from her home in Stretham, which she shares with her husband, Chris, and 21-month-old daughter, Millie, said: "Everything's been a bit of a whirlwind really – the business has taken off amazingly.

"It all started last year when I was on maternity leave. I decided to paint a pair of my shoes with scenes inspired by 'Les Misérables' and 'Phantom of the Opera'. People said they loved them so I started to do a few more, and things took off from there.

"I've done all sorts of designs for people – shoes inspired by their favourite book, their favourite genre of music – even farming themed shoes for a farmer's girlfriend. I'm combining my love of shoes and art so I'm absolutely loving it."

Joanna can provide shoes or bags – or you can provide her with items you want glamming up. Visit www.facebook.com/shoeniquelifeistoo-shortforboringshoes.

Scheme will help women to flourish

A NEW scheme has been launched to help women in Cambridgeshire start or grow their own businesses, or return to work.

Connecting Cambridgeshire's 'Destination Digital Opportunities for Women' initiative will provide practical support for 1,500 women to improve their digital skills or set up businesses, and gain support from existing women's business networks.

The six-month scheme has been set up with £75,000 extra Government funding from the Women and Broadband Challenge fund to encourage women-led businesses, female entrepreneurs and young women to make the most of digital and technology opportunities.

Julie Deane, founder of The Cambridge Satchel Company, is endorsing the initiative, which was launched last week.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Feast of entertainment in Soham

IRISH musician Sean Wilson is heading to Soham tomorrow night.

He will be performing at The Brook, in Brook Street at 9pm. Tickets are £12.

On Sunday, there is also a jazz lunch event being held at the venue from 12pm onwards. 'The Lady Killers' will be performing and tickets are £24.50.

Call (01353) 721748 for details about either event.

Club for kids with special needs

CHILDREN and young people with special needs can enjoy music, games and dancing at Ely's Methodist Church tomorrow night.

The Friday Music and Fun Club's next meeting is at the church hall, in Chapel Street, from 7-9pm.

The club is for young people up to the age of 16 who have special needs.

Admission is £1.50 although parents/carers go free. Call Joanne on (01353) 662426.

Calling all rock 'n' roll lovers

A ROCK 'n' roll music event is being held in Prickwillow on Saturday.

'This Little Girl' and 'The Dillicats' will be performing at the event at the Hiam Sports and Social Club, in Putney Hill Road. Call (01353) 688269 for tickets or more information.

75th anniversary dance at club

LITTLEPORT Ex-servicemen's Club is celebrating its 75th anniversary with a dinner dance on Saturday night.

Perry Dennis and The Twilight Shadows will be performing at the event at the club, in Pont's Hill, at 8pm. Tickets are £10. Call (01353) 860378.

Never too old to learn new skills

RESIDENTS in Littleport are proving that age is no barrier when it comes to using technology – or getting fitter.

People at Sanctuary Retirement Living's Anchor Court, which provides accommodation for the over-60s, were able to learn more about surfing the internet and practise new exercises.

The special Fitness and Information

Technology (FIT) event was held last week as part of Get Online Week.

Residents were also able to find out how online services can help monitor their health, Lloyds Pharmacy staff were on hand to conduct blood pressure tests and a Tai Chi practitioner attended to offer general well-being advice.

Lower your fuel bills, says Paice

BE proactive about reducing your energy bills – that's the message from local MP Sir Jim Paice.

JORDAN DAY

Mr Paice, MP for South East Cambridgeshire, is urging residents to take action now to lower their energy bills and maintain a warmer home as winter draws near.

This year the Government has worked with energy regulator Ofgem to help speed up switching and to give people simpler choices and clearer information.

The Department of Energy and Climate Change is calling on people to check their energy bills to see if they could get a better deal by switching tariff or supplier, and to have a better understanding of the things they can do to their homes, such as installing insulation.

Mr Paice said: "We all know that energy prices have risen in recent years and it is crucial to make sure consumers are getting the cheapest tariffs and being treated fairly. "The Government is acting to make the energy market work more effectively – offering consumer protection, competition and real choice – and supporting an investigation into market competition.

"I would encourage people to be proactive and take advantage of any schemes available to them. This will not only bring a financial advantage but help to ensure that we all stay warm this winter."

Last winter, the Government announced it was giving consumers up to £50 off their energy bills, including a £12 rebate via consumers' electricity bills. From now through to November 23, suppliers will send their pre-payment customers information on how they will receive the rebate.

People in rural areas using heating oil are being urged to buy early or to consider joining a community buying group, which will make oil prices cheaper.

the GUIDE

See them: Junction Fiver,
Cambridge Junction, Cambridge,
Friday, December 19.
Hear them: Tied In Time EP (out now)

This week Lewis, Charlie and Will from The Staycations discuss playing at Cambridge Junction, their musical heroes and how a school Spanish lesson
inspired the band's name

The Staycations

1 Describe your sound or style in a nutshell.

(Lewis) In a nutshell we're an indie folk group. I don't know how else to describe our music.

2 Talk me through the band members: what do they do and what are they like?

(Lewis) I'm the lead vocalist, and I'm also one of the two songwriters in the band.

(Charlie) I play guitar and I write the lead guitar parts.

(Will) I play acoustic guitar and I do harmonies and write part of the songs. Lewis, Charlie and I collectively do most of the songwriting together. Then there's the bass player, Craig, who couldn't be with us today. He plays bass guitar and writes bass lines.

We're all easygoing lads, we like a joke and we just gel, we get each other. We've been friends for five or six years now, so there's a natural chemistry between us.

3 Why the name?

(Will) When Craig and myself were at secondary school, in our Spanish lesson we were talking about how it would be great when we were older, after we'd finished college, to go on holiday together. We came across the term "staycation" – meaning to take a holiday in your own country. We thought it was a good British name, and it was unusual, so that when people hear that it's our band name, they'd question it. We came up with it when we were 13 and it's stuck ever since. We've not yet actually gone on a staycation, except I guess when we went to Brighton to record.

4 Town or gown? Mill Road or King's Parade?

Town, I think. We're all born and bred Cambridge – born in the Rosie! We'd choose Mill Road over King's Parade – I love its cultural diversity.

5 Where should someone who's not heard you before start?

Go and 'like' our Facebook page, we do lots of interactions there, and we use it to let people know about our gigs. We also have a soundcloud page with all our material on it: soundcloud.com/thestaycations. The best track to start with would be Dearest.

6 Best local show?

That would have to be our gig at J1 at the Junction last week. It was phenomenal. We had a turnout of 750 people – so we nearly managed to sell the venue out! It was one of the best gigs we've ever played. People were dancing and jumping and crowdsurfing. It was probably our biggest show too.

7 Where next for the band?

Early next year we're intending to record a second EP, maybe in Brighton again.

8 When is your next Cambridge show?

We've got another Junction gig on December 19, playing with four other bands as part of the Junction Fiver night. Pay a fiver and see five bands.

9 Who is your musical hero or heroine?

I think we would all say Ben Howard, Two Door Cinema Club, The 1975. But we do like all kinds of music really.

10 Can you suggest another local band or artist that we should feature on this page?

Rachel Clark. She is a fellow artist with a new EP out, she's one of our really good friends and she writes really beautiful, delicate songs.

Fitz exhibition

BE unnerved and intrigued by the Fitzwilliam Museum's eagerly anticipated new show.

Silent Partners: Artist & Mannequin from Function to Fetish is – after much hype – finally open!

It has been curated by Jane Munro and is, according to a museum spokesperson, one of the most “ambitious” shows the gallery has ever hosted.

Intrigued? No wonder.

The exhibition brings together more than 180 paintings and drawings by the likes of Beeton, Cézanne, Poussin, Gainsborough, Millais, Ford Madox Brown and Degas, as well as photographs by Surrealist artists such as Man Ray, Hans Bellmer and Salvador Dalí.

These sit alongside books, fashion dolls, trade catalogues, patent documents and videos.

And, of course, a collection of physical mannequins, including “beautifully carved 16th century small-scale figurines to haunting wooden effigies, painted dolls of full human height and top-of-the-range ‘stuffed Parisian’ lay figures that were sought after by artists throughout Europe.”

The collection has even inspired whimsical Vogue photographer Tim Walker and fashion set designer Shona Heath, some of whose pieces have been added as supporting work for the show.

Heath said: “When I saw the Alan Beeton paintings for the first time, they blew my mind.

“I couldn’t work out what the mannequin was, and why it was so alive.”

She added: “The pieces that are in Tim Walker’s photographs will be used as sign posts to follow through the museum to the exhibition.

“Like a treasure hunt, the photographs hold items that are to be found along the way.

“The pictures are at once fantasy, beautiful, dark, sexual, touching on morbid, as are the installations.”

To find out more call (01223) 332904 or visit fitzmuseum.cam.ac.uk.

The show will run until Sunday, January 25 when it will move on to the Musée Bourdelle, Paris.

Escape the winter blues

EXPLORE huge blue skies at Over Gallery this autumn. Painting The Blues sees Cambridge printmaker and painter Jo Tunmer showcase a collection of dreamlike paintings of the sky at Over Gallery.

Tunmer said: “I love painting the landscape as it is constantly changing and evolving.

“It may be a shape, colour or an atmosphere that’s the starting point, then I sketch, photograph and come back to the studio to work.”

The show will run until Saturday, November 15.

For more information, contact (01954) 230997.

New show at Kettle’s Yard

ARBURY, East Chesterton and King’s Hedges in Cambridge have been captured in a new photography exhibition at Kettle’s Yard.

A joint project between artist Katherine Green and North Cambridge Girls Group, I Come From A Place, features a series of portraits and interviews with local people.

The show aims to document the different communities and show that assumptions are not always correct.

The show runs until Sunday, October 26.

Autumn treasures

SO it’s official – a walk to take in the seasonal colours of autumn is good for our wellbeing, according to new research by the National Trust.

Indeed, now is the time for considering what we might want to plant to give us a blaze of autumn colour in future years, whether it’s Japanese maples or other shrubs and trees which produce stunning burnt orange, red and burgundy hues as well as vibrant berries.

Here are some of the places you may find inspiration this autumn:

■ Thorp Perrow Arboretum, Bedale, North Yorkshire (www.thorpperrow.com/01677425323)

This amazing arboretum, woodland garden and falconry centre has 85 acres of woodland walks and boasts one of the largest and rarest collections of trees and shrubs in the north of England and holds five National Collections – ash, lime, walnut, laburnum and cotinus.

■ Wicken Fen, Cambridgeshire (www.nationaltrust.org.uk/wicken-fenautumnwalk)

Wicken Fen is one of Europe’s most

by Hannah Stephenson

important wetlands, supporting an abundance of wildlife.

The raised boardwalk and lush grass droves allow easy access to a lost landscape where visitors can enjoy the vibrant russet tones of the sedge in the autumn months.

■ Drummond Gardens, Muthill, Crieff, Perthshire, Scotland (Open to Oct 31, www.drummondcastlegardens.co.uk/01764681433)

This Scottish gem boasts one of the finest formal gardens in Europe. Designed in the shape of the St Andrew’s Cross, the parterre was built by garden designer Lewis Kennedy in the early 19th century.

Fountains, urns and statuary demonstrate the Italianate style and in autumn it comes into its own when the sunlight hits the leaves of 14 different species of acer along with the russets and gold hues in the woodland regions.

■ Powis Castle, Powys (www.nationaltrust.org.uk/powis-castle/01938551944)

Rising above the terraced garden and estate, this medieval fortress provides a fantastic autumnal setting. The warm colours of the castle appear to echo the rich tones of seasonal foliage, as the red walls match the red vines and leaves in the surrounding woodlands.

Follow the route through the woods and look out for bird and bat boxes and see what other wildlife and bugs you can spot around the grounds.

■ Trentham, Stoke-on-Trent, Staffordshire (www.trentham.co.uk/01782646646)

Contemporary designer Piet Oudolf’s Rivers of Grass are at their most spectacular at this time of year – and walking right through the tall Molinias is positively encouraged.

Hot autumn colours simmer as light softly hits the planting among the 70 flower beds in the Italian Gardens, while the swathes of coloured grasses in the Rivers of Grass make a staggering impact.

There’s also woodland originally planted by Capability Brown and more trees, chosen especially for their autumn colour, have been recently planted.

■ Divis Mountain, Hannahstown, Belfast, County Antrim (www.nationaltrust.org.uk/divisautumnwalk)

The colour purple dominates the mountain of Divis in the autumn which is set in the heart of the Belfast Hills.

Look out for the purple-coloured and wonderfully named Devil’s-bit Scabious carpets. It’s a curious-looking plant, with a purple head with antlers sticking out and is the food source for the marsh fritillary butterfly, only found on three sites on Divis.

Your Guide to Moving Home

Moving home can be a complicated business and in the hectic run up to the big day it is all too easy to forget something vital. The team offers their readers this handy checklist to help avoid any major pitfalls. We suggest you tick them off as you go....

1 4-2 WEEKS TO GO:

- ☐ Packing – start packing and sorting through your belongings. Now is a good time to de-clutter and pack items rarely used. Make sure you have plenty of sturdy boxes, bubble wrap and sticky tape.
- ☐ Removal companies – get estimates from removal companies, checking that comprehensive insurance cover is available against damage or loss. Is there a packing and unpacking service? Confirm the date of your move with the firm you have chosen.
- ☐ Insurance – check on your home contents insurance policies to ensure that you are covered for the move, and covered at your new address.
- ☐ Utilities – make arrangements for your gas and electricity meters (plus water meters where relevant) to be read and all your appliances to be disconnected on the day of your move. Arrange to take over gas and electricity at your new address, and make sure that all appliances will be properly fitted, plumbed or connected.
- ☐ Telecommunications – Notify your telephone and broadband provider and ask them to make the necessary arrangements for a final account at your present address, and for taking over or installing telephone and broadband facilities at your new home.
- ☐ Post – Look into re-directing your post for a few months to make sure you receive all relevant correspondence.
- ☐ Children – Look into the possibility of your children, especially young children, staying with family or friends on the day of the move.
- ☐ Pets – Make arrangements for any pets to be booked into a cattery or kennels if required. Having your pets microchipped is a good idea and if already microchipped, have the address changed to your new one. Your vet can advise on this.

Change of address – tell companies and organisations that you are moving!

Notify:

- ☐ Employer
- ☐ Inland revenue
- ☐ Local council
- ☐ Banks or Building Societies
- ☐ Credit companies, store cards & other accounts
- ☐ Gas, Electricity and water boards
- ☐ Insurance companies
- ☐ Land / mobile phones
- ☐ Internet and cable / satellite TV providers
- ☐ Doctor, Dentist and Opticians
- ☐ DVLA
- ☐ Veterinary surgery
- ☐ TV Licensing

3 1 WEEK TO GO:

- ☐ Delivery address – change delivery address of your Cambridge News, milk, groceries and fuel to your new address as appropriate.
- ☐ Laundry – do any last minute laundry that you can – have you arranged for a plumber to disconnect your washing machine correctly?

- ☐ Kitchen cupboards – go through your kitchen cupboards and throw out anything not in date. Also check that all jars and bottles are correctly sealed before packing.

- ☐ Fridges / Freezers – empty and clean out in preparation for moving. If you are moving a freezer and its contents, turn it up to maximum for a couple of days before you move.

- ☐ Valuables / documents – put these in safe place for moving day

4 2-1 DAYS TO GO:

- ☐ Packing – pack a bag for overnight essentials and toiletries and finish all remaining packing into boxes. Remember to label which room each box is destined for.

- ☐ Snack box – pack a box for the kitchen to include essentials like tea, coffee and sugar, as well as the kettle and mugs! Also include other snacks as necessary.

- ☐ Dismantle and disconnect – take down curtains, fixtures and fittings and disconnect white goods ready for transport.

- ☐ Outdoor items – make sure that these are stacked together and ready to be moved.

- ☐ Mobile – place your mobile on charge the night before moving and ensure that all relevant people have your number.

5 ON MOVING DAY:

AT YOUR OLD ADDRESS:

- ☐ Strip beds and pack bedding and nightclothes.
- ☐ Finish packing toiletries box.
- ☐ Direct removal firm personnel or friends helping you move as to what needs to be done.
- ☐ Turn off electric appliances.
- ☐ Disconnect cooker.
- ☐ Turn off boiler / central heating.
- ☐ Turn off water.
- ☐ Read gas meter.
- ☐ Read electricity meter.
- ☐ Secure all windows.
- ☐ Lock all doors.
- ☐ Make final checks and leave key as arranged with new owners.

AT YOUR NEW HOME:

- ☐ Open up & have a look around the new house.
- ☐ Locate fuse box, gas and electric meter and stop cock for reference.
- ☐ Take readings on gas, electric and water meters as appropriate.
- ☐ Organise the direction of boxes to appropriate rooms.
- ☐ Check the van after all is unloaded.
- ☐ Make the beds up for the evening.
- ☐ Sit down and relax – unpack the other boxes the next day.

Glyn Hopkin to open new Nissan showroom

GLYN Hopkin, the UK's largest volume Nissan dealer group, is to open a new and improved showroom to replace the existing Nissan site in Newmarket Road, Cambridge.

This month the group took over the management of the existing site, giving customers improved access to over 2,500 quality used vehicles from across Glyn Hopkin's stock, as well as providing the full range of brand-new Nissan vehicles, including the popular all-new Juke and Qashqai models. The site on Newmarket Road is the only Nissan dealership in Cambridgeshire. As well as longer opening hours for sales and service, Glyn Hopkin will also make more demonstrator cars available for test drives and increase the number of courtesy cars on hand for loans during services.

From early 2015 Nissan customers will be able to visit a newly built, larger, state-of-the-art showroom, and benefit from a sophisticated new after-sales facility with more than twice the number of service bays.

The purpose-built site will also add a new Fiat and Jeep showroom, expanding Glyn Hopkin's partnership with Fiat to eight showrooms and Jeep to three showrooms in the UK

Glyn Hopkin

Where people come for the deals and stay for the service

GLYN HOPKIN: New and improved Newmarket Road, Cambridge set-up and increasing the choice of brands available to motorists in Cambridgeshire. Work on the new Nissan and Fiat / Jeep dealerships, which will be situated behind the existing Nissan showroom, will start in October.

Situated in a prime location between its Nissan dealerships in Ipswich, Bishop's Stortford and Bedford, Glyn Hopkin's new Cambridge showroom increases the group's Nissan portfolio to 13 sites across the South East. The move follows confirmation that Glyn Hopkin acquired Nissan Cambridge from Marshall Motor Group. Under the terms of the deal, staff at the Nissan Cambridge site will be transferred to Glyn Hopkin, taking the Group's total headcount to nearly 600.

Fraser Cohen, Managing Director at Glyn Hopkin, said: "We see this expansion into Cambridgeshire, which conveniently links our territories in Bishop's Stortford, Bedford and Ipswich, as a key acquisition for Glyn Hopkin. By redeveloping this site we can offer customers in Cambridgeshire an increased choice of brands in the near future, coupled with the outstanding customer service and highly competitive pricing that Glyn Hopkin is famous for."

The acquisition of the Nissan Cambridge showroom is the latest expansion for Glyn Hopkin, following the launch of a brand new Nissan dealership in Bedford earlier this year and a dedicated Nissan Taxi showroom in Canary Wharf, London.

Glyn Hopkin is one of Europe's largest representatives for Nissan, and now the UK's largest volume Nissan dealer group with 13 dealerships. The group's very first dealership, Nissan Romford, opened in January 1993 and Glyn Hopkin now has more than 30 showrooms across London and the South East, representing over 10 exciting brands.

Located on 699 Newmarket Road, the Glyn Hopkin Nissan Cambridge showroom is open from 8.30am to 6pm Monday to Saturday and 10am to 5pm on Sunday. For more information about the Nissan range and the services available from Glyn Hopkin, please call (01223) 633109 or visit glynhopkin.com.

PART OF A STRONG BRAND: The Dacia Sandero

Dacia achieves sales of more than 3m vehicles in ten years

DACIA has reached the milestone of three million vehicle sales in the space of barely ten years. On Tuesday, Dacia's stand at the 2014 Paris Motor Show provided the backdrop for a ceremony that saw Andres Palomo Paz, a Dacia customer from Spain, receive the keys to a brand new Dacia Sandero Stepway from Nicolas Wertans, Renault Group, senior vice-president global sales.

"Dacia has now sold three million vehicles since the brand's renewal merely 10 years ago, and that's something of a unique achievement in today's automobile industry!" said Nicolas Wertans. "The Dacia brand has built a strong bond with its customers based on a sense of confidence and proximity."

"This success is also due to a clear, straightforward pledge that fits perfectly with the expectations of motorists looking for a safe, reliable vehicle with a modern equipment and performance package at an affordable price."

In addition to its buoyant vehicle sales, Dacia has been an inspiration for a high number of customers thanks to its 'no nonsense' approach to selling cars.

In numerous countries, customers meet up at regular events to share their experiences and common values which are founded on the 'no frills' and crystal clear principles Dacia has always followed.

These community-based events are growing in importance year after year, providing participants with an enjoyable time that helps to forge lasting bonds between the brand and owners.

This is illustrated by Dacia's Facebook page which already unites more than two million fans after an existence of less than four years.

BMW 7 Series buyers get biggest discounts

THE biggest new car discount in Britain is for a BMW 7 Series, exclusive research by What Car?'s Target Price team can reveal.

The saving of £18,650 was negotiated by What Car?'s mystery shoppers and represents an enormous 31 per cent saving off the car's list price.

The reason for the huge discount is that the BMW 7 Series is about to be replaced by a newer model, but What Car?'s Target Price research reveals that it is just one of several double-digit discounts achievable on BMWs.

As a result, the premium car manufacturer sits third among all car makers for the overall average discount available on its cars. Others significant BMW discounts include a £10,719 saving off a BMW 640d SE, which is available for £52,411 against a list price of £63,130, and a £2056 saving on a BMW 320d Efficient Dynamics, which can be bought for £26,719 despite a list price of £28,775.

The biggest average discounts across a car maker's range are available on Volvos (14.7 per cent), Renaults (13.6 per cent) and BMWs (13.2 per cent). Across all sectors and manufacturers, the average

ON OFFER: BMW 7 Series buyers can achieve double-digit discounts if they play their cards right, a new poll shows dealer discount stood at a 12-month high of 10.3 per cent.

What Car? editor Jim Holder said: "For months now, we've been told that the increased new car sales volumes mean that discounts will disappear, but the insight offered by our Target Price team shows that you can still get a healthy amount of money off if you are prepared to haggle."

"BMW is, rightly, perceived as a quality brand, so it may surprise new car buyers that they can bag some of the brand's most luxurious offerings for much less than the list price. The fact is that the 7 Series is due to be replaced soon, so there are incredible discounts available. Using Target Price means that you can be bold when you step into the dealership because you know what you can demand."

Discounts of cars in the luxury segment are particularly strong at the moment, with an average saving of 17 per cent off the list price across the sector. This is an increase of 75 per cent on the same time last year and is also largely down to BMW 7 Series discounts jumping from 9 per cent to 29.3 per cent on average.

City cars, small family cars and coupés, where demand is stronger, have all experienced a dip in discounting but cars in the small SUV sector, which includes the BMW X1, Peugeot 3008 and Suzuki SX4, can be snapped up for an average of 8.4 per cent less than the list price.

Mercedes prices AMG-tuned C 63

MERCEDES has announced pricing details for its latest high performance mode, the AMG-tuned C 63. Based on the recently launched C-Class saloon and estate models, the hot AMG variants will be priced from £59,795.

Arriving in spring 2015, the C 63 boasts an all-new 4.0-litre bi-turbo engine promising improved fuel economy, yet also delivers 476 horsepower and the ability to sprint to 62mph in a rapid 4.1 seconds.

Moving up to the 'S' models, power increase to a considerable 510 horsepower, while the other number worth noting is the car's economy figure: 34.5mpg in saloon form.

Key to the car's performance is its new V8 engine, which is shared with the newly launched AMG GT. Also new for this latest C 63 is a revised version of AMG's seven-speed gearbox, tweaked to deliver faster gearshifts.

Estate model prices start at £60,995, with the more powerful S models start from £66,545 for the upgraded saloon.

WANTED

Historic CARAVAN SEARCH

Does anyone in the Cambridgeshire area ever recollect seeing, or knows where any remnant of this type of caravan may be? It is being sought with a view to potential renovation and family history research.
It is a Peak Diplomat rare double decker 6 berth, 1 of only 11 built in 1952. One was my family and holiday home up to 1960. It was sold on from the Stoke on Trent area around 1965 and had the name Holydale on the door. One in the Cambridge area is known to have been inhabited up to around 1985 and up to 12 years ago, was reported to be in a dilapidated state, either in a field or works yard in the Cambridge area and used to store old motorbikes.
Any information or recollection of this or any similar model would be greatly appreciated.

8mm FILMSCAN

STANDARD 8 & SUPER 8

We use the latest frame-by-frame scanning equipment to produce stunning digital images from your 8mm family movies.

These films are a precious part of your family's history, and should be preserved in a permanent digital format.

They all contain images of people, places and events of days gone by, moments in time that should be preserved for future generations - and in the best possible quality!

Lay Trustee Appointment

Ref: M640

Addenbrooke's Charitable Trust (ACT) is seeking to recruit three trustees to join its governing body and help to lead the organisation into its next stage of development. ACT is an ambitious NHS charity with an active fundraising programme. The trustees hold and administer funds and property donated to Cambridge University Hospitals NHS Foundation Trust in accordance with charity law and the wishes of donors, and they are individually accountable to the Charity Commission for their actions. Income is around £8.5m pa and funds held on trust stand at £25m.

We are looking for people who live or work in Cambridge and the surrounding area and are able to demonstrate an interest in healthcare and the NHS. A willingness to engage in fundraising, working with our professional fundraising staff, will also be an advantage. Trusteeship is a position of responsibility and leadership and we are looking for candidates who can demonstrate experience of operating at a strategic level in an organisation and who understand good governance. We are looking to appoint trustees with skills and experience in one or more of the following areas: fundraising, healthcare (primary care and/or hospital care) and medical research.

We value and promote diversity and are committed to equality of opportunity for all and appointments made on merit. We believe that the best boards are those that reflect the communities they serve. We particularly want to hear from people from minority ethnic communities who are able to make a contribution to this organisation.

These vacancies are statutory appointments made by the NHS Trust Development Authority (NTDA) under delegated authority from the Secretary of State for Health. Applicants must be over 18, and cannot be current employees of the NHS.

Trustees are unpaid, although reasonable out of pocket expenses may be reimbursed. Meetings are held once or twice each month, mainly starting in the late afternoon. A total commitment of between 6 and 12 days a year is expected.

These appointments will commence on 1 April 2015 and appointments will be for an initial four year term.

- For an informal discussion or further information about these vacancies, please contact our Chairman, David Robinson on 07770 803109 (after 29 October) or by email: david.robinson@addenbrookes.nhs.uk
- For more information on ACT, including annual report and accounts, visit www.act4addenbrookes.org.uk
- Applications should be made via the NTDA website: www.ntda.nhs.uk/public-appointments
- Closing date: 19 November 2014 at 11.00 am.

Sailing cadets clinch top youth league prizes

CADETS from Ely Sailing Club claimed impressive wins in the Cambridgeshire Youth League following the final round at Paxton Lake Sailing Club.

Hunts sailor Harry Moffatt led by eight points going into the weekend, but his lead was swallowed up by the Ely youngsters after some excellent performances in the final.

Chandler Stamford claimed overall victory, with Jack Knight and crew Mollie Lee second. Moffatt finished third.

The first of three races saw Knight and Lee make good progress in their National 12 boat thanks to a light, shifting wind.

Stamford gave chase in his Laser Full Rig but Moffatt took second, meaning he had to settle for third.

Conditions were the same for the second race and Knight and Lee again came home in first place. Stamford recovered from a bad start to take second.

The final race brought a stronger wind, but Stamford made an excellent start.

Knight and Lee moved into second, and with the two boats pulling clear of their rivals, that was how it stayed until the finish.

The results confirmed the top two positions for the Ely youngsters, and there was more good news for the club as Kirk Stamford took third overall in the under-15 category.

> Netball

Too good: The triumphant Ely netball team

Laura Butchers the opposition in Ely win

A FINE display of shooting by Laura Butcher helped City of Ely under-16s beat the Hawks 54-18.

Supported by Holly Lancaster, Butcher peppered the Hawks net with a series of goals.

At the other end, Nadine Page, Katie Tune and Juliet Koopowitz limited opposition chances.

Tara Gilbey and Daisy Marshall secured turnovers which were passed to Sarah McLaughlin to power up court to the attack.

■ City of Ely Netball

Club's first team have been plagued by injury but are fourth in the County Premier League having won two matches.

In Division One, the second team lost 28-26 to Kestrels, 37-10 to Milton, 38-21 to Cojags and 40-20 to Royston.

In Division Three, the third team secured their first win.

All three adult squads and the two junior squads will benefit from new netballs for training and matches, bought using a grant from the City of Ely Council. The club is very grateful.

Robins dedicate points to Walter

JAMES Carman notched twice as Ely got their first Thurlow Nunn League, Premier Division victory of the season at the 13th time of asking against Clacton.

A nasty head injury suffered by Ash Walter did overshadow things, but City manager Brady Stone was glad to have finally got some points on the board thanks to the 4-2 triumph.

It was Walter who opened the scoring with a header in the first minute of the match to give the Robins a perfect start, but he clashed heads with an opponent and had to be substituted.

He then took a turn for the worse and was taken to Addenbrooke's by air ambulance. He has now returned home, but he could be facing an operation on a fractured skull.

Carman doubled the lead moments after Walter's opener and then extended their advantage further with a screamer, before Richard Gammon made it 4-0 to the away team at half time.

There were mixed emotions in the dressing room at the break due to Walter's injury, but the players were determined to see the game out for their team-mate and, despite conceding a couple of goals in the second period, secured the overdue win.

A penalty before half time pulled Plantation back into the match, but Raffael Concalves restored the two-goal advantage after the break.

Huckle's solo effort sealed the win, before two goals in the final 10 minutes from Plantation.

George Rayner and Josh Lowe saw Haddenham Rovers under-16s defeat SASS 2-1 in the league cup.

Huckle aids Mepal with two in cup

JOSHUA Huckle hit a brace for Mepal Sports under-13s as they edged out Plantation 4-3 in the Cambridge & District Colts League cup.

Huckle opened the scoring, followed by one from Connor Rae-Smith.

A penalty before half time pulled Plantation back into the match, but Raffael Concalves restored the two-goal advantage after the break.

Huckle's solo effort sealed the win, before two goals in the final 10 minutes from Plantation.

George Rayner and Josh Lowe saw Haddenham Rovers under-16s defeat SASS 2-1 in the league cup.

Ryder haul clinches victory at Thurston

A SECOND-half hat-trick from Mark Ryder helped Ely see off bottom side Thurston 49-10 in Greene King IPA Eastern Counties One.

Ely were 10 points down at the midway point of the first half, but Ricky Neale got them on the board with their first try.

Just before the break, Charlie Coupland set up Sam Benzie for a converted score.

Ryder led the way for

Ely in the second half, getting them on the board with his first score after pressure from the forwards.

His second came following a quick tap by Joel Scott Paul.

Ryder then set up David Bainsfair for a converted try before completing his three-try haul with a solo effort.

Matt McCarthy's converted touch down completed the scoring for the away side.

> Table tennis

MARC Meunier won his three games as Fulbourn saw off Soham Comrades 7-3 in Ely & District League, Division One.

Fulbourn look to finally have a settled squad now and there were also successes for Martin Spott and Peters Zivtins, with Nathan Stewart and James Nicholls getting some points on the board for the losers.

Ellesmere returned to winning ways when they entertained Ely II, showing no mercy as they claimed the match 9-1.

On-form Meunier makes his Marc

Rhys Davies and Joanne Pettitt achieved maximums for Ellesmere and then combined to take the doubles against Mick Runswick and Emily Birt.

Roger Fensom scored yet another maximum and joined Owen Davies to win the doubles against Kelvin Mitchell and Peter Moffatt to set Elsworth on their way to a 7-3 victory over NCI.

There were two wins for Davies and another from Joe Thorogood, while Fulbourn's points came via a couple of wins for Moffatt and one from Mitchell.

In Division Two, Impington II suffered a home whitewash against Ely III.

The visiting trio of Neil Weir, Fred Laband and Margaret Chambers did not let Duncan Taylor, Mike Johnston and John Bray get into their stride, although Taylor and Johnston gave Weir and Laband a good run for their money in the doubles.

Elsworth II continued their impressive start to the season in Division Three by travelling to Ely V and winning 10-0.

Samuel Mallett, Richard Smart and Colin Fotland had far too much ammunition for Simon Braschi, Peter Salmon and Simon Bickers.
